Art Unit: 2876

1. Applicant's response filed 2/13/03 has been entered as paper number 5. By this response, claims 2 and 5 have been canceled, claims 33-37 have been added and claims 1,24 and 25 have been amended.
2. The amendment to the specification to proposed paragraphs [0010] and [0011] have not been entered as they do not "match up" with the paragraphs [0010] and [0011] as seen in the original specification. Further it appears that the applicant desires proposed paragraph [0010] is to be the clean replacement for the "marked up" proposed paragraph [0011]. However the paragraph identifiers [0010] and [0011] are not identical. Upon review, it appears that the applicant wishes proposed "clean version" [0010] and proposed "marked up" version [0011] to be an amendment for original [0032]. If in fact this is the case, applicant should use the paragraph identifier "[0032]" and page and line number (pg. 12, ln 4) to locate the proposed amendment within the original specification. Such an amendment would overcome the websight objection as seen in this office action.
3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the websight disclosed on the bottom of page 12 of the current specification must be removed.

Appropriate correction is required.
4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-23,33-35,37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Freeman et al 6,019,284 in view of Bates 5,314,765.. Freeman discloses a circuit card with a flexible battery. Freeman does not specifically disclose any specific form of RAM memory on the card, that this RAM is encapsulated in an epoxy resin, that the battery's anode and cathode are connected to this RAM. RAM, SRAM, DRAM are all known form of volatile memory. All batteries have anodes and cathodes as the electrodes for connection to external devices to be powered. Encapsulating chips, including memory chips, and batteries within circuit cards with epoxy resins is old and well known in the art. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to encapsulate a SRAM connected to a battery within the card of Freeman with epoxy resin. This would allow for the card and it's processor to store reusable information in a manner which is structurally secure and by a method that is well established and proven. Freeman does not disclose that the thin film battery has a solid state electrolyte with lithium phosphorous oxide on the anode. Bates discloses as seen in the abstract a battery with lithium nitride coated on a lithium anode and further that lithium phosphorous oxynitride is coated upon this lithium anode. Although Freeman is silent as to the battery being a lithium battery, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use this lithium battery of Bates in the card of Freeman in order to take advantage of the known advantages of lithium batteries.

6. Claims 24-32 are allowed as applicant's arguments are deemed persuasive.

Art Unit: 2876

7. Claim 36 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims, for the same reasons as related to claim 24.

8. Applicant's arguments filed 2/13/03 regarding claims 1-23 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant arguments center around the "hermetically sealed" element of the current claims. The examiner appreciates applicant's interpretation, but offers Kodai, et al as support for "hermetically sealed" circuit cards (see col 2 line 9). Further, in response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
